GENERAL NEWS.

A St. Louis Judge Loses both Dignity and Temper.

PAYNE'S PARTY IN OCKLAHAMA

Assassination of President Arthur Threatened by some Unknown Coward—General Notes of News.

SPECIAL DISPATCHES TO THE OREGONIAN

CHICAGO, May 23.—A Times St. Louis special has the following story: The Evening Chronicle contained a criticism on the decision of Judge Laughlin declaring the gambling law unconstitutional. The criticism conveyed intimations of undue influence. Laughlin cited Stanton M. Waterloo, editor of the paper, to appear for contempt. Preliminary remarks the today and after some preliminary remarks the judge said: Coming to the merits of the case my view is simply this, Whenever a man assaults with out cause the honor of another and stabs it he would assault and stab his body. In both cases the act is a deadly one and the actor is an assassin. I intend to postpone vindication of the right of this court until the rights of the citizen are vindicated. I am satisfied that the writer of the article is in no way connected with the Chronicle office and that I am the victim of fire from ambush. No pen but that of a trained lawyer could have written it. He is a master of the innuendo in which it deals and innuendo is Pennsall, the weapon of a coward. I make a public demand for a retraction printed in the paper or in lieu of it the name of the man who wrote it shall be furnished. I will wait until exactly the setting of the sun." Sunset came and no retraction. Waterloo waited at the Chronicle office with friends till a late hour, when it was learned Judge Laughlin would be at Waterloo's house. The latter at a later hour received a letter warning him that he would be called to a personal account on sight. It is predicted there will be shooting when they meet.

Relief for Stockholders.

NEW YORK, May 22.—A bill will soon be introduced in the New York assembly providing protection of holders of corporative securities. The bill provides that railroad companies incorporated in this state and those having offices in the state for registry and transfer shall publish on or before the 15th of each month a statement of their approximate gross earnings and expenses of the month preceding. The statements shall also include the amount of bonds, stock and other indebtedness outstanding mileage on which earning have been made, and other sources from which receipts have accrued. The auditor or other proper accounting officer shall verify the statement under oath.

Eastern Freight Situation.

NEW YORK, May 22.—General quietness still prevails in the freight market via Cape Horn, and there is nothing now to note in this connection. Ships are doing fairly as deliveries of iron, which have been delayed are now more prompt. Rates remain as last quoted. Tonnage is quite plenty and is accumulating. California agents are not anxious, but are waiting until owners' views are lower than at present.

Stock Prediction.

NEW YORK, May 22.—Certain bears predict that the Louisville and Nashville railroad shares will advance to 50, and a financier, identified with the road, says he will take the capital stock of the company at that figure.

Application will soon be made to list Mexican national bonds.

Reducing Stock.

PHILADELPHIA, May 22.—The agreement entered into by manufacturers of cotton goods, cotton and jeans, and other low grade textile fabrics, looking to reduction of the quantity produced in Philadelphia and vicinity went into effect to-day, and many mills are shut down. The movement is to curtail production of lower grades 50 per cent. and manufacture the finest class of materials. Of 22,000 looms in Philadelphia nearly 10,000 or the greater number of those engaged making the goods mentioned have entered into a compact and a large number outside of Philadelphia agreed to join the movement.

Payne Getting in his Work.

CHICAGO, May 22.—In a letter dated April 29th, the secretary of the interior says he is informed by Dr. H. C. Hambly, of Parsons, Kansas, that a settlement is being made in the Oklahama district by the followers of Capt. Payne, and requests the secretary of war to take steps for their removal. Hambly places the number of these settlers at 1500. Capt. Carrol has made an investigation and finds Mr. Hambly's statement incorrect. The Oklahama district has been thoroughly scouted at intervals of ten days during the past three months, and only one party of six men were discovered in the district. They were arrested, and sent out of the Indian territory. A company of cavalry and a detachment of Indian scouts are stationed in the Oklahama country with orders to arrest and expel all unauthorized parties that no one may be deceived by the representations of Capt. Payne. It is announced that the government will not permit any settlers on the Oklahama lands.

A Chance for Government Intervention.

CHICAGO, May 2.—A Lafayette Ind., special says Barney Hartman, who nine years ago settled near here, went back to Germany four months since to see his parents and secure a patrimony. The German authorities seized him and imprisoned him at Munster on the eve of his departure, Saturday, for America. He is a fully naturalized citizen of the United States, but when he first left Germany he was under orders to report for military duty.

An Interesting Case.

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., May 23.—Judge Matthews, of the United States supreme court, to-day convened the United States circuit court in special session, to try the case of the state of Tennessee vs. George T. Larkin, for murder about a year ago. Larkin was deputy United States marshal and killed his cousin. The case attracts much attention as a test case, because it is the only one of the kind ever tried in the United States court. Judges Baxter and Key sit with Judge Matthews.

After the St. Louis Gamblers.

ST. LOUIS, May 22.—The supreme court to-day decided constitutional the law making gambling a felony, and issued a peremptory writ of mandamus compelling the criminal court to try gamblers indicted by the grand jury. The war on gamblers is now likely to be a vigorous one. This decision is a great blow to the gamblers. The sheriff is serving all capiases on lottery men, some of whom have been indicted 60 times. There are over 600 cases on the docket against lotteries and gamblers.

A Broken Band.

ST. LOUIS, May 22.—A Post Dispatch Little Rock special says a band of vigilants have been chasing eight horse thieves in Missouri for over two weeks. Three have been captured near Kirbyville and lynched. The other five escaped, but one has been since killed, one mortally shot, and a third captured and in jail. The other two are now hemmed in on White river and will be captured to-day and lynched.

Released on Bail.

NEW YORK, May 23.—Chas. H. Smith, indicted with Brockway in connection with the larceny of the bond plate from the treasury department was taken to-day before the United States commissioner in Brooklyn. Counsel raised objections of a misnomer, claiming his client's name was not Chas. H. Smyth. Smith was released under $50,000 bail, his wife being his surety.

Fire at Wyman, Michigan.

GRAND RAPIDS, May 22.—A fire at Wyman burned O. W. Avery's saw mill yesterday, loss $30,000 to $40,000, insurance $15,000. It also destroyed 4,500,000 feet of lumber and 2,000,000 shingles belonging to H. P. Wyman & Co. Loss $70,000 to $75,000, insurance $41,000. It is reported to have destroyed also Avery & Wyman's stores, and other property.

The Threat of a Coward.

NEW YORK, May 23.—When Postmaster Pearson reached his office yesterday he found a postal card addressed to President Arthur notifying him if he didn't recall Minister Lowell from England and ask unconditional surrender of all American citizens in British dungeons without trial he would be assassinated.

Snow Storm in Iowa.

MARSHALLTOWN, Iowa, May 23.—The second snow storm of spring occurred last night between 12 and 1 o'clock. It was snowing heavily for some time, then grew clear and cold, and another heavy frost occurred, doing a great deal of damage. Small fruits are mostly ruined and other damage feared.

A Strike Inevitable.

PITTSBURG, Pa., May 23.—A conference between iron manufacturers' and workmen's associations on a new scale of wages failed to reach an agreement, and a general strike on June 1st is thought inevitable, throwing 30,000 men out of work.

Work Resumed.

DETROIT, May 23.—The booms on the Muskegon river mills, which have been closed two months on account of the strike, opened this morning, the men working under protection of Pinkerton's police.

Oregon Stock Quotations.

NEW YORK, May 23.—Oregon Railway and Navigation Company, $1 38. O. I. Co., 61¾. O. T. Co. bonds, 85¾.

WASHINGTON CITY.

Honor for Oregon.

WASHINGTON, May 23.—Representative George of Oregon has accepted an invitation to deliver the memorial address on Decoration Day at the national cemetery at Ball's Bluff, Virginia, where Col. Baker was killed. Ball's Bluff is also the birthplace and early home of the father of Mr. George.

Much Ado About Nothing.

Senator Miller introduced in the senate yesterday a joint resolution declaring martial law to exist in Alaska, and authorizing the president to detail an officer of the army to act as military governor whenever necessary and have command of the land and naval forces. Senator Miller has received a number of telegrams from San Francisco calling his attention to the condition of affairs in Alaska. Among those who have telegraphed are Wm. L. Coleman, Thomas Brown, [illegible] The senator consulted with the president on the subject, and he suggested it would be advisable that congress should authorize him to declare martial law before issuing a proclamation to that effect. The impression among those in Washington familiar with Alaska affairs is that a joint resolution should be immediately passed. It is believed that the recently reported [illegible] This time but similar occurrences are likely to be repeated at any time.

CONGRESSIONAL PROCEEDINGS.

Senate.

WASHINGTON, May 23.

Miller, of California, introduced a joint resolution to authorize the president to declare martial law in Alaska; referred.

The Geneva award bill came up as unfinished business soon after 2 o'clock but no progress was made for some time in consequence of an effort of Pugh to enter a motion to reconsider the final vote on the five per cent land bill passed Friday and now before the house. After discussion chair having ruled the motion to be within the time of the limit of rule it made to-morrow. Pugh temporarily withdrew.

Hoar then addressed the senate on the subject and briefly stated that the bill makes provisions for claims of the exculpated cruiser class, and war premiums, to the exclusion of insurance companies. When Hoar had concluded his explanation and advocacy of the bill, Garland moved a substitute, looking to the payment of insurance people, and excluding exculpated cruisers and war premium classes.

Garland gave notice of further amendment referring the whole matter to the court of claims, and the bill went over without action.

The secretary of war asks a special appropriation of $25,000 more for the purpose of dispatching a vessel with men and supplies for the relief of the expedition sent last year to Lady Franklin bay. After executive session senate adjourned.

House.

Democrats began to filibuster again against consideration of the Mackey-Dibble contested election case. Nothing was done until 2:45 when the sergeant at arms appeared at the bar of the house with members. The usual explanations, speeches and by-play followed until 4 o'clock, when further proceedings under the call were dispensed with, and a vote, recurring on the question of consideration again, no quorum voted. Yeas 119, nays 1. Phelps of Connecticut. After another call of the house Calkins, giving notice he would call up the election case to-morrow, house adjourned.

BY ATLANTIC CABLE.

Parliamentary Proceedings.

LONDON, May 22.—In commons Gladstone replying to the member for county Kilkenny, stated he had seen the resolution of Irish judges against suppression of trial by jury, but he was bound to say government had carefully considered the matter before the resolution was framed and the repression bill contains their deliberate conclusions.

Chief Secretary Trevelyan said the suspect O'Mahony is an American citizen and is not prevented from writing to the U. S. minister. The government has not offered O'Mahony or any American citizen's money to quit the country.

Gladstone announced to-morrow he would move that the repression bill have precedence over all other business until its consideration is concluded. If he finds it necessary he will afterwards ask precedence for the arrears of rent bill.

Parnell gave notice he would move that Gladstone's resolution in regard to the repression bill shall also apply to the arrears bill.

Gladstone then moved second reading of the arrears bill. The house was very crowded when he made his motion. Gladstone said it was impossible to compel people to borrow therefore money supplies by the government must be a gift. He stated that there were 135,000 tenants in Ireland paying under thirty per cent by Griffith's valuation of the land. Of these 100,000 were excluded from the benefits of the land act by being in arrears. This he said, must be remedied. He admitted that the proposal was extraordinary, but so was the state of Ireland.

Sclater Booth, conservative moved an amendment declaring it inexpedient to charge the consolidated fund with any payment for arrears except in the form of a loan. He described the government's plan as communistic and demoralizing. It was an evil precedent and most objectionable in the view of Scotch and English farmers, who suffered as much as Irish farmers.

Lowther testified to the general leniency of land lords of Ireland though there were individual cases of hardship. He said it would be of interest to land lords to reduce the number of tenants. If poor tenants got a fair start they would become fewer and better off and wretchedness would no longer furnish an excuse for agitation. He believed that many landlords would accept a small compensation from tenants in order to get the government's grant. He strongly favored the grant taking the form of a gift.

At a meeting of the Irish parliamentary party to-day Parnell presiding, the secretary was directed to telegraph all absentees to attend sessions of the house to oppose the repression bill. Parnell, Sexton, Healy, Leahy and Dillon were appointed a committee to draft amendments to the bill. This signifies strenuous resistance on the part of the Irish members.

The Release of American Suspects.

The correspondence relating to suspects imprisoned in Ireland sent the house to-day was very voluminous and pretty much anticipated by previous fragmentary publications. Minister Lowell writes, May 3d: "I had an interview by appointment with Forster Friday, the 21st of April. I assented that he should try the experiment of offering release to all so called American suspects on condition of their going back within a reasonable time to the country they claim to have adopted, but distinctly informed him I was not authorized by my government to accept anything less than unconditional liberation. On my part I promised to have prisoners informed, on my own responsibility alone, that in case they shall be released, £40 should be at the disposal of each to pay his passage across the Atlantic and I accordingly instructed Barrows and Woods consuls respectively at Dublin and Belfast, and Linsley, consular agent at Limerick, to visit prisoners and make known to them the offer. Two of them, McInery and Slatter, were allowed three days to consider whether they would accept or not. The others O'Mahoney, Gannon and McSweeney refused to be liberated on any terms whatever. Whose advice or orders they were acting under is a matter of very probable conjecture. Meanwhile it is nearly certain all suspects except those charged with crimes of violence will be set at liberty, thus rendering nugatory the most effective argument in favor of disorder and resistance to law. It seems that to case of most if not all, American suspects' in Ireland continuous residence there has exceeded two years. In some it has greatly exceeded it. In the case of McCormick it has apparently extended to 13 years.

A STARTLING DISCOVERY.

Counterfeiters Obtain an Exact Reproduction of a Government Bond Plate.

SPECIAL DISPATCH TO THE OREGONIAN

CHICAGO, May 23.—The Washington special [illegible] Folger's [illegible] original plate [illegible] ... the case. [illegible] conspiracy. It is charged that the conspiracy is up in the part of the government and high officials have conspired to defeat the [illegible] Several weeks ago Samuel Felker, a detective of Chicago came to this city, placed himself in communication with the secretary of the treasury through a friend whom he instructed to see Folger and tell him he had in his possession an electrotype transfer from the original plate in possession of the government of the $1,000 bond issue [illegible] and that he desired an interview. An interview was granted after some hesitation and Felker then told Folger he would bring the plate which he claimed was an electrotype transfer and would leave it with the secretary for examination upon certain conditions. Felker said: I don't pretend to know anything about the plates. I simply claim to have an electrotype transfer of one of the plates of the government bond issue. I make no charges against anybody. I simply present this fact and I want you to pass on it. If you think it worth while to surrender Doyle and give him freedom, I will change this plate for that.

The secretary indicated he desired to send for experts of the bureau of engraving and printing, to come and examine the plate.

Felker said: No sir, I cannot allow one of them to see it. You may call in all the experts you please to examine this plate but you must remember that if this is a transfer from the dies that go to make up the original plate, it is a reflection upon the bureau of engraving and printing. They are interested in it and they should be the last ones permitted to see it.

The secretary saw the plate and promising to preserve it carefully closed the interview. Since then various experts have been summoned to examine the plate and have all reported it a transfer from the original dies. It was upon this that the order for Doyle's release under suspended sentence was given. Now the department is in a most embarrassing position and confronted with the proved fact of a duplicated bond plate. From this must follow a rigid official investigation to ascertain who are the guilty parties. It will be remembered that an expert in the case of Doyle in Chicago testified that the printed bonds found in Doyle's possession were printed from an electrotype reproduction of a counterfeit which varied in a number of respects from the government issue. Government experts still claim the bonds in Doyle's possession are from the bond plates of this issue in possession of the government. This point, however has been urged very successfully at the treasury department by people who claim that the plate they now present is a reproduction of government work, but only one familiar with engraving will know that none of the issues of government are printed from engraved plates. Various portions of the plate bill were engraved separately upon small pieces of steel called dies. The engraving upon the dies is transferred to a cylinder of softened steel by pressure. This cylinder is then hardened and transferred again by pressure to a flat plate of softened steel, which is again hardened for use. In this way forty or fifty dies might be used in transferring or in reality printing the face of a steel bond plate to be used afterward for printing bonds.

In the issue of 1880 were four plates made from dies. In the making up of these four plates there is a slight difference between them all so that it was very easy for government experts to show the difference between the bonds in Doyle's possession and bonds printed from certain plates in the bond issue, but it has been shown since the recent examination of Secretary Folger, that one of the four plates used for the printing of the issue of 1880 is an exact duplicate, line for line of the issue found in Doyle's possession. With this staggering evidence laid before him, Folger has felt weighted down with the responsibility of the revelations. The matter was brought before the cabinet Friday and discussed. It was resolved to give Folger full authority to conduct the investigation as he sees fit. Doyle has promised to give testimony that will throw new light on how these people obtained the plates of the government for counterfeiting business. This part of the investigation however relates to the future.

It will be remembered that the supposed capture of counterfeits from Doyle in Chicago was in connection with the capture of one of the most important bands of counterfeiters ever known in this country. Brockway and Smyth of Brooklyn, were famous captures. It will be remembered that at the time of the capture it was said that the bonds counterfeited were so good as the government bonds. In some cases they were said to be better. The slight discrepancies noted however were those that occur between various plates of genuine issue and consequently offer no argument in support of the theory of the government experts that this plate was a reproduction of a counterfeit plate.

The Bogus Bond Trouble.

CHICAGO, May 23.—James B. Doyle has not yet been able to get bail. The Times publishes an interview in which it is stated as rumor that Col. Woods formerly of the secret service and Brockway, have a scheme on foot to secure Doyle's release through implication of other parties in stealing the plate from which the bogus bonds were printed. It is understood that Brockway when on the stand did not give up all the information in his possession, and that an attempt will be made by Woods, Brockway and Doyle to implicate Castlear, the government engineer in the transaction.

House of Lords.

In the house of lords the marquis of Wexford gave notice of and postponed his question in relation to the Kilmainham compact.

Earl Granville protested against such notice, as the lower house had ruled a similar one out of order.

Adjournment of the house to June 1st was then agreed to.

A Burning Mine.

EUREKA, Nev., May 23.—The small hoisting works on Ruby Hill caught fire on Sunday morning and flames were communicated down along the wooden work of the shaft and ladder. Four men were working at the bottom of the shaft 400 feet deep and all started to climb up but finding they had to climb through fire and for the last three feet up grasp the flaming rungs of the ladder. Two of them went below. The two miners who made their way out were terribly burned and were so crazed with the pain they suffered that they threw themselves over dump piles and rolled to the ground. One of them in agony ran blindly about in the sagebrush until he was captured and brought into camp. His injuries are probably fatal. The other's injuries are not considered fatal. The two men below were nearly suffocated, but a crowd of miners threw snow down the shaft first, and afterward running a line to the water works cast water down and saved them.

Unhealthy for Horse Thieves.

CHENEY, May 21.—On Sunday night a party of citizens in the vicinity of Rockport, thirty five miles east of Cheney surrounded the house in which Alday Nell a well known and desperate horse thief was stopping, and after considerable parley he agreed to surrender if they would give him a trial. Messrs. Starr, Henderson and Gilbert were selected to take him to Cheney. They had proceeded with him some eight miles when a band of masked men sprang from the woods surrounded the hack and after the exchange of a few shots between the guards and lynchers Nell was given up. He was taken about one hundred yards from the road and strung up to a tree and when daybreak came his lifeless body was there found. The lynchers then proceeded in quest of another horse thief Vin M. Cane, who escaped from the Cheney jail in April, with what success has not been learned. Nell was a very desperate character. He was last fall captured with seventy five head of stolen horses, but escaped from the guard. He shouted to his guard just before lynching that he feared neither God, man or devil.

A Sad Death.

SEATTLE, May 23.—Howard the three year old son and only child of Frank A. Pontius a druggist of this city got hold of a bottle containing morphine last night and swallowed the contents. His mother not knowing the deadly nature of the bottle's contents, put the boy to bed as usual and it was not until the father's arrival, three hours later that she had any idea her child was in danger. It was then too late to save him and although every effort was made the little fellow died in their arms before morning.

EVANGELISTIC LABORS.

ALBANY, May 22.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN:

The Evangelists, Rev. H. F. and P. H. Ashcraft and Mr. T. P. Furguson, have just closed a two weeks meeting, in this city, of great interest. These young men are full of fervent zeal and piety and exalt the standard of christian faith, experience and practice far above the average attainment of christians, but not as they believe above the demands of the Holy Scriptures. They teach that all men are sinners and need forgiveness and regeneration. Sinners may obtain these blessings by hearty repentance toward God and true faith in the Lord Jesus Christ, and know the fact. Converted persons still retain the carnal nature with which they were born and hence need a second cleansing or purifying process which they call in Bible language, holiness or entire sanctification. The converted person must be convinced of the need of this purification and be willing to make for it an entire and unreserved consecration to God of his whole being, life activities and possibilities, and then trust implicitly on the promises of the Bible for the completion of the work. The individual in whom this work of grace is done may know it is done just as he knew of his conversion. These are the specific points of doctrine they teach and give their own experience of six and a half years as testimony to the truth of their doctrines.

As results of the meetings in Albany about 15 persons were converted and 60 others experienced sanctification. COM.

VIOLATION OF THE PASSENGER ACT.

U. S. District Court—District of Oregon.

TUESDAY, May 23.

The United States vs. William S. Gibson—No. 1141. Information for violation of § 4252 R. S.

CHINESE PASSENGERS FROM HONGKONG—Passengers when taken on board a vessel openly and in the usual way are presumed to have been taken on board by the master within the purview of § 4252 of the R. S. A. [illegible] for the [illegible] Neglect in the discharge of a duty, or indifference to consequences, is in many cases equivalent to a specific criminal intent.

C. B. CARTER, U. S. DIST. ATT'Y.—The defendant being the master of a vessel under charter at the port of Hongkong to carry passengers to Portland, Oregon, permitted the charterers to load her under the inspection of the port officers with at himself knowing or taking any steps to know how many passengers were on board and upon arrival in Oregon it was found that there were 160 passengers in excess of the number allowed to be carried by § 4252 of the R. S.—Held, that it was the duty of the defendant to have taken steps before leaving the port to ascertain how many passengers he had on board and that the omission of this duty was such negligence on his part as made him guilty of a violation of the statute.

DEADY, J.

Section 4252 of the Revised Statutes provides that if the master of any vessel at a foreign port not contiguous to the territory of the United States, shall take on board such vessel any greater number of passengers in proportion to the space allowed them thereon, than is prescribed by § 4252 of the R. S., with intent to bring such passengers to the United States, and does bring the same within the jurisdiction of the United States he shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and fined $50 for every such passenger, and may also be imprisoned not exceeding six months.

The defendant as the master of the English steamship Bothwell Castle is accused by the information herein of violating this statute by taking on board said vessel on April 21, 1882 at the port of Hongkong, 160 passengers more than the number allowed thereby to be carried thereon, with intent to bring the same to the United States, and by afterwards bringing said passengers on said vessel within the jurisdiction of the United States to wit the district of Oregon.

The defendant pleaded not guilty to the charge and by the stipulation of the parties the case was tried by the court without a jury.

From the evidence including the testimony of the master, his chief officer and two of the seamen, it appears that within a year past the defendant carried a cargo of Chinese passengers on this vessel from Hongkong to San Francisco consisting of 1013 adults; that on April 18, 1882, the "Administrator of the port of Hongkong licensed the Bothwell Castle to carry under the English passenger act not exceeding 1098 Chinese passengers from that port to Portland, Or., that on April 20 the Emigration officer of the same port gave the vessel a "certificate," to the effect that she had space and was furnished to carry 1094 adult passengers on said voyage, and that there was then on board 1042 men and 20 children, equal to 1042 adults; that on the same day the harbor master gave the vessel a "clearance" for Portland with 1052 Chinese passengers in the lower berths "under the emigration officer's certificate"; that a passenger list attached to said documents and signed George Holmes passenger broker and containing the names of 1015 ordinary passengers, and 37 doctors, interpreters, stewards, cooks, &c. or in all 1052 passengers, was delivered by the defendant on May 11, 1882, to the collector at Astoria, verified by his oath then made as containing "the names and descriptions of all the passengers who were on board, the said steamer (Bothwell Castle) at the time of making her last departure from the said port of Hongkong"; that said vessel on said voyage was chartered to carry Chinese passengers to Portland and while lying in the stream at Hongkong, not less than a mile from the shore, on April 20, 1882 took on board 1198 of such passengers, of whom about 1041 had "contract passage" tickets containing the terms of the contract, a receipt for $50 in payment of the passage, with the name of the passenger, his age, occupation and place of birth signed by "George Holmes, passage broker," and signed and certified by the "emigration officer" to the effect that he had "explained and registered" the same, and about 157 had similar tickets not signed by any one and brought the same to this port when by law she was not entitled to carry more than 1038 such passengers, being an excess of 160; that after all said passengers were on board said vessel there was a count of the same made by the Harbor Master and Asst. Health Officer of the port on said April 20 and the defendant upon a statement then given him by them and by him delivered to the proper local authorities, obtained his clearance and gave bond to deliver the passengers as per agreement and at 6 o'clock the next morning sailed for Portland; that soon after starting a strict search was made for stowaways or persons who had not paid and one found and put off the vessel, but no attempt was ever made by the master or any one under his direction or authority to count the passengers or ascertain how many were on board until the vessel was within two or three days of the mouth of the Columbia river, when the defendant ordered the tickets taken up, and found that he had about 160 passengers more than he was entitled to carry; that on April 12 the Govt. marine surveyor measured the vessel according to the American law as furnished him by the American consul and furnished the defendant with a written report thereof from which it appears that she was not entitled to carry more than 1038 passengers, but upon a survey made by the collector at Astoria, it was ascertained that she had space enough for 1038.

The defendant denied in his testimony all knowledge of the excess of passengers or of his liability therefor under the United States statute, and said that he paid no attention to the matter and supposed that the port officers would duly attend to it and not allow him to sail with more passengers than there was on his list, and when the collector at Astoria ascertained that there was an excess of passengers on board by counting them, and asked the defendant how it came that there was 160 too many, the defendant said he did not know, that it was not a matter that he was bound to look after—he went by the list—that the company had sold 1000 tickets and he supposed they were short of ships.

There is no conflict in the evidence, and assuming that the facts are substantially as stated, counsel for the defendant insists that he cannot be found guilty because there is no evidence of a specific criminal intent—that as he did not know he had taken on more passengers than the law allowed he cannot be held to have taken on the excess with the "intent to bring them to the United States."

And first, what constitutes a taking on board within the meaning of the statute? I suppose that all passengers who go on board openly in the usual way—not clandestinely and without the master's consent, expressed or implied, are taken on board by him. It is not necessary that he should see them come. He may, and usually does commit that duty to his subordinates. But as no one has a right to come on board without his consent, a passenger found there is presumed to have been taken on board by him until the contrary appears.

There was a suggestion in the argument that the excess of 160 might have gotten on board surreptitiously after the count by the port officers during the afternoon and night of April 20 by climbing up the ship's sides. But that was impossible unless with the connivance of the officers and crew. And the proof is that a strict watch was kept on board during that time, and that only one little boat approached the vessel and it was sent away.

It must be assumed, then, that all the passengers on the vessel came on with the implied consent of the master. He took no steps to prevent any of them coming on board—gave no directions to his officers to allow only so many passengers to come on board and therefore, in contemplation of law they were taken on by him.

But nevertheless, if there must have been a positive or specific intent in the mind of the defendant to take on this 160 passengers for the purpose of bringing them to the United States in the same way that a specific criminal intent is necessary to constitute larceny, then the prosecution must fail for whatever the fact may be no such intent has been shown.

But in many cases, negligence or indifference to duty or consequences is equivalent to a criminal intent. 1 Bish. C. L. § 62; 1 Whar. C. L. §§ 83, 325.

Under the circumstances the statute forbid the defendant from taking on board any of these 160 passengers and he could not knowingly have done so without intending to violate the statute. What was his duty then? to leave the matter in the hands of his charterer and their broker who were only interested in getting as many passengers on board as possible and the port officers who were under no obligations to prevent a violation of a United States' statute, but only concerned to see that the regulations of the port were complied with? I think not. In my judgment it was the duty of the master before leaving the port of Hongkong to have taken steps to ascertain how many passengers he had on board. If he had not taken an account of them as they came on as he should have done. This duty should have been performed in person or by his officers under his direction. The omission of it was an act of gross negligence in consequence of which this 160 passengers were unlawfully brought to the United States, which consequence he must be held to have intended.

Any other construction of the statute would make it a dead letter. Neither ship nor owners are responsible for its violation as they ought to be and the master can always be kept in convenient ignorance of the facts until the vessel has sailed from port and then it is too late for him to commit the crime of taking them on board with a specific intent to bring them to the United States.

There are also some circumstances in the case which tend to show that the defendant was not altogether innocently ignorant in this matter. When at the mouth of the Columbia river he found out that he had a large excess of passengers on board. It would have been natural in an innocent man to have reported that fact to the [illegible] when delivering his list of passengers. Still he did not, and the master says he [illegible] [illegible] honest truthful [illegible] [illegible] estimate that [illegible] upper [illegible] [illegible] passengers on board when he [illegible] [illegible]

But [illegible] [illegible] that the [illegible] should have taken them [illegible] [illegible] statute.

He says that he knew or supposed [illegible] charterers [illegible] tickets [illegible] [illegible] port [illegible] of which was furnished the defendant and he [illegible] shows that the vessel was only entitled to carry 1038 passengers on its list. This was the list which the defendant had when he left this port [illegible] on board and left with them for this port. The only reasonable inference from the premises is that he took them on with the intent [illegible] bringing them here. True the measurement of the vessel by the collector at Astoria shows that she has space for 1038 passengers. But that is the after [illegible] of the fortunate rather than the result of his [illegible] He did not act upon that impression. And still there were passengers in the list in excess of what the vessel was entitled to carry by the survey in accordance with which the defendant must have had knowledge.

The finding of the court is that the defendant is guilty as charged in the information.

J. F. Watson for the plaintiff.

John W. Whalley for the defendant.

The United States vs. W. S. Gibson—No. 1142. Information for violation of § 4266 of the R. S.

The defendant was also charged with the violation of § 4266 R. S., by failing to deliver a correct list of his passengers on board to the collector at Astoria. The case was submitted to the court on the evidence in the above case and the court found him guilty and sentenced him to pay the fine prescribed by statute—$1000.

NEWS FROM THE NORTH.

The Lack of Mail Facilities Complained of—General Mining and Shipping Notes.

SPECIAL DISPATCHES TO THE OREGONIAN

PORT TOWNSEND, W. T., May 23.—The mail steamer City of Chester arrived from Alaska via British Columbia this morning. She brings the following news:

The miners of Juneau are very indignant that the new mail contract leaves their town out in the cold. A postoffice was established there over a year ago and a postmaster appointed, who has since served diligently and the mail has been carried there for a year without pay by the Eureka, Favorite and Rose. As Juneau is the largest most important and thriving settlement in southeastern Alaska the action of the postal authorities is most ambiguous and discouraging and will render the letting of a new mail contract at increased expense from Wrangel to Juneau. The handful of men who voted to send Col. Ball as a delegate to congress are much chagrined that he has permitted this unfortunate thing to occur. The definite intelligence that the new mail contract is to be carried by the Evangel is considered almost a death blow to the prosperity of the territory. Already has the perilous little craft been cut in two to be lengthened 25 feet in order to fit her for carrying the mail. She will still be only 107 feet long by 17 wide. It is only a question of time when some horrible disaster will have to be recorded by this frail craft tempting Divine Providence in navigating these waters. No ocean steamer like the Eureka or City of Chester can run here without a mail subsidy and pay expenses; hence it follows they will be withdrawn from the route and an iron English steamer from the Clyde is soon expected at Victoria to ply between that port and Wrangel. We shall then see our whole passenger traffic here diverted to British bottoms.

A suitable boat will be put on the route to Juneau and Sitka the seat of government for the territory, where all the public buildings are located will be made practically a side show. This method of spreading the gospel is ruination to the territory and entirely breaks up the trade with Portland merchants.

Dr. Aurelius Krause of the Royal Geographical Society of Berlin returns by the Chester. His brother will remain in the territory until fall pursuing his scientific researches.

The mission school at Hoonah village has closed for the summer, the whole tribe having left for the sea otter grounds.

The town of Killisnoo, the seat of fishing operations of the Northwest Trading Company, is making much headway. Their oil works are completed and in successful operation. The company have killed the first whale of the season, which will produce about 12 barrels.

The herring are running thickly and parties intending to work this season should be on the ground by the 10th of June.

The first part of May was warm and bright but on the 8th a snow and hail storm visited Sitka. The weather, however, is becoming gradually settled.

Commander Pierson, of the Wachusetts, is reversing in some instances the policy pursued by Commander Glass who was an officer of experience in the country. He has discharged unconditionally the Indian doctor whom Glass imprisoned, remitted his fine and turned him loose upon the community. This hasty and inconsiderate action cannot but be productive of unfavorable results.

The mortality among the Russian creoles continues unabated and will increase with warm weather.

The buildings of the Cutting cannery were crushed to the ground last winter by the weight of the snow. They have been sold for old lumber and the other material has been shipped to the Eagle Cliff, on the Columbia river. Cutting & Co have located another cannery at Cook's inlet, where will be found the largest and reddest salmon in all Alaska known as the King salmon.

The mining news from Juneau is promising. About 60 men are at work on Douglas island. Copperstown its new mining camp, is flourishing and some 20 buildings have been erected lately. They are preparing to build a wharf. Treadwell's mill has begun crushing ore and is a success. Hydraulic mining and sluicing is going on. The Ready Bros and Paris Creek Companies are at work on the beach.

Juneau is thriving and new houses appear everywhere.

The snow is about 10 feet deep on the basin where some 20 miners are at work cutting timber, sawing lumber etc. for mining purposes.

Two prospecting parties have already left Juneau for the Yukon country. They will be joined in the mountains by a party coming overland from Cassiar.

On April 22d a Stikeen Indian from Wrangel was threatened with death by Indians from the Auk village near Juneau. The assembly was sounded by the bugle and the battalion of miners mustered under arms having 100 breech loading rifles lately sent at the request of the postmaster general. They then marched to the Indian village and rescued a Stickeen squaw from being murdered. The Siwashes were notified that if the hair of any white man was harmed they would all suffer death. This settlement is perfectly able to protect itself. Not so with Sitka, however. A guard of soldiers or marines is consequently needed here.

On May 3d a meeting was held at Juneau and all Chinamen in the country notified to leave. But one John is left, who will emigrate by the next steamer.

MR. MOODY NOT A MEMBER.

THE DALLES, May 23.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN:

The Daily Standard of yourcity has for some days been publishing a statement that Hon. Z. F. Moody, the republican candidate for governor is a member of a secret anti-Catholic order known as the knights of the sun. As chairman of the Wasco county republican committee I request you to publish a denial of the charge.

I have a flat denial of the canard from Mr. Moody in person and in writing which lies before me, and will be published in our local papers.

I also have had a conference with members of the order here, who deny Mr. Moody's membership with in the order and I am authorized to state it publicly. I am also informed by a telegram to Mr. Pierce Mays of this city to night, from Mr. B[illegible] [illegible] of Portland (son in law of Hon. Joseph S. Smith) that he has made no statement coupling the name of Hon. Z. F. Moody with the order of the knights of the sun.

Men may differ with each other in principle or policy but when a cause requires the lettering by untruthful slanderous attacks to authorship of which is hidden for shame it is unworthy the support of honest men.

COUNTY ADMINISTRATION.

Our local affairs require the attention of those who are beginning to think how they ought to vote in the coming election. They who are about to make up their tickets will fall far short of their duty if they fail to give consideration to selection of proper men for administration of county affairs. Right here is where each voter has an opportunity to be an independent party on his own account. He needs no advisory committee to pick and select candidates for him. He can act in this direction as his own advisory committee. Officers of local administration have really nothing to do with politics. No political object for which men associate in party depends on their action. Hence it is easier to vote with entire independence for officials to fill non-political positions than for those who are to fill political ones. And, since very many have a habit of doing this, it is a far more hopeful enterprise to act independently in the selection of officers for administration of local affairs than to "bolt" political candidates who are on a general ticket. Worthiness ought always to be considered by each voter in the selection of local officers. In many respects it is of far more consequence to the people of this county who is elected county judge than who is elected governor; while the office of justice of the peace in several precincts of this city, though little considered by a large class of voters, is actually of more importance than many other positions which have a very large share of public attention. It is needless to say that there is reason for the exercise of constant vigilance in the management of local affairs. It is particularly necessary that the community be at all times served by those who, instead of abetting the efforts of the large class who make schemes of getting at the public treasury the object of their lives, shall be ready at all times to defend the public funds against these insidious attacks, and who have the courage and integrity to beat back the unscrupulous rapacity of the professional gang who distort the law that they may plunder under its sanction. To any office of local administration, therefore, no man ought to be elected whose life, character and associations do not give assurance of intelligence, firmness and integrity. As a common rule the professional place-hunter is a bad man to vote for. He belongs to that class who look upon the funds in the public treasury as their legitimate prey. He is not troubled with scruples about making or approving bills against the county or city. His associations are well calculated to remove such scruples, if any such originally existed. He fraternizes and combines with those who are engaged in the common enterprise of living at the public expense; he is one of them, and they have supported him for the position he has reached that they may have a man in place to help them. Against men of this class citizens ought to be on their guard. Such men slip into local positions of great importance through the citizen's negligence of his right to "scratch." We take occasion right now to name two or three candidates who, as we think, certainly ought not to be elected. One is L. B. Stearns, republican candidate for county judge, and another is R. E. Bybee, democratic candidate for justice of the peace. Still another is W. A. Daly, also a democratic candidate for justice in one of the precincts. The county, there is good reason to fear, would find this a very expensive combination. All these men are members of a profession who, by instinct, work for a common interest; an interest, it is quite unnecessary to say, not strictly the interest of the taxpayer.

EXORBITANT APPEALS.

The house committee on pensions is constantly besieged by a crowd of beggars styling themselves claim agents, who appeal for the men who "fought, bled and died for the country." No less than nine absurdly extravagant pension bills have been introduced in the house this session. A bill rejected by the committee last week is a fair sample of the whole lot. It provided that 160 acres in land or its equivalent in money should be given to every man who was ever mustered into the service of the United States during the rebellion from general down to private. This modest demand proceeded upon the basis that the poor soldier has never yet had anything like pay for his services, and that no receipt will be signed in full until some such measure is passed. This bill would give this amount of land, or its equivalent in money, to the teamsters, the musicians, and, in fact, as expressly provided in the bill, to every single man who was mustered into the service, whether he resigned the next day or not. This generous bill also further provided that in case any of the patriots intended to be benefited by it should have died before the bill goes into effect, their heirs should be allowed to collect from the United States the amount given in the bill. The pension committee did not even attempt to estimate the enormous amount of money that would be required to satisfy this extraordinary proposition. Besides the amount of money required in the bill, there would also be required, practically, the establishment of another pension office, or, indeed, an entire department, to consider the cases that would arise under it. This committee, which has been very friendly to the true interests of the soldiers, regardless of the extortionate claims of the claim-sharks in Washington, who spend their time devising ways and means to rob the United States treasury in the name of the soldier, did well in declining to report the extravagant bill.

The Pall Mall Gazette administers a gentle rebuke to Lord Salisbury for intimating that all freethinkers and atheists ally themselves with the liberal camp. It concedes that there is a grain of truth in the charge, and that grain is as follows:

Whenever and wherever the state or a party in the state attempts to enforce religious conformity by penalties or disabilities it will set against itself all those who do not conform to the established religion. Freethinkers, among others, will be in opposition to government of this kind, and under a constitutional system will naturally look for redress to the political antagonists of those who administer it. This they will do, however, not as freethinkers, but as nonconformists.

Testing Lord Salisbury's affirmation by specific instances, however, it finds that it is not borne out. Both M. Renan and Strauss in their works have announced distinctly conservative creeds in politics, Hobbes, the atheist, was a royalist, Hume gave the history of England a tory bias, and Voltaire belonged to the ancien regime, which was aristocratic in every sense. The Gazette clinches the argument with the following instance in the house of commons: "If we look to the present house of commons for fixed relations between speculative opinions and political practice, we see that Mr. A. Balfour, who has proclaimed himself in philosophy more skeptical, if possible, than Hume, is as good a tory as Hume could have desired, while some of the most violent members of the Irish no-rent party make a parade of Catholic orthodoxy."

Jacob Spear of Cincinnati, one of the three commissioners to whom are to be consigned the United States quota of Hebrew refugees from Russia, has returned home from a prospecting tour of the Yellowstone country. He was more than pleased with the valley, and in the Cincinnati papers has expressed himself unmistakably in favor of the bottom lands between Glendive and Miles City as the point of location for the 5000 refugees. Mr. Spear will strongly recommend this site to his brother commissioners, and offers himself to pay their expenses if, after a trip to that part of Montana, they fail to agree with him. Each family is to take a small farm and will be furnished with sufficient money to put up a house and buy one year's provisions. With this start they can pay individual attention to their farming prospects. In this connection it may be stated that the Russian Jews, unlike their congeners in other countries, have a large proportion who are acquainted with agriculture. Many of them are skillful artificers and it is likely the better farmers will absorb all of the better handicraftsmen; the latter being able to find more fitting work for their profitable employment in regions rapidly springing into notice and augmenting in population. Large numbers of these Hebrew agriculturists will probably settle in Eastern Washington.

The Jacksonville Sentinel says: The Standard hits the nail square on the head when it tells THE OREGONIAN that the next United States senator will either be John H. Mitchell or a democrat, if the legislature is republican." This is a singular statement, but it is quite in keeping with the methods of the Hipple-Mitchell ring. Here is one of the recognized organs of the said ring freely declaring that if Mitchell cannot be elected a democrat shall be, even though the legislature be republican. This, of course, is sheer impudence. Mitchell may control the small organs, and the unscrupulous, self-seeking and desperate politicians, but he has no real hold on the republican party. It is well understood by the people that the republican legislative nominations are not to any extent in his interest; and in this fact lies the whole chance of obtaining a republican majority in the legislature. Were it apparent that the election of Hipple-Mitchell to the senate would be a consequence of republican ascendency in the legislature the republicans would not have twenty members out of ninety. Wonderful "leader" of a party he is when the fact is notorious that his party finds its only possibility of success in his absence from its counsels and its contests.

The Vienna theater fire, in which 700 persons lost their lives, occurred on December 8. The English and American newspapers published long dispatches about it from Vienna on the following morning, detailing the origin and progress of the fire, and giving estimates of the loss of life. On the same morning the Algemeine Zeitung, a representative newspaper of Germany, published in Augsburg, only 150 miles from Vienna, did not contain a line about the fire, and the Volks Zeitung, of Berlin, the leading daily of the Prussian capital, printed in its second edition a dispatch, only ten lines long, announcing that a fire had broken out in the theater, but that it could not be learned whether lives had been lost.

W. W. Ker, of Philadelphia, a democratic lawyer who was sent to Charleston to assist in the prosecution of the democratic bulldozers and ballot-box stuffers, is disgusted with southern Bourbons. One night recently a gang of democratic desperadoes, known as the Bulldog Gang, as a mark of attention to him, broke all the windows in the lower part of the hotel in which Mr. Ker was staying. He was openly insulted because, although a democrat, he appeared for the government to prosecute election frauds.

WEDNESDAY MORNING, MAY 24, 1882.

CITY.

GREAT COAL DOCK.—The Oregon Improvement Company yesterday began construction of a coal dock 250 feet above the dry dock, on the O. R. & N. Co.'s new grounds below Albina. It will be 250 feet long, 40 feet wide and 40 feet high. The side next to the river will be fitted with four tower elevators, one for each hatchway of the colliers. Such are the mechanical arrangements and improvements adopted that after the coal has been shoveled into buckets in the ship's hold manual labor is no longer necessary, and when the coal has once been elevated to the bins all loading is automatic. By simply opening traps, coal may be slid into river steamers on one side, and locomotive tenders on the other and into cars ready for transportation to any point desired. When the dock is finished the O. R. & N. Co.'s steamboats will be converted into coal burners and locomotives will of course use this fuel.

FUNERAL OF W. S. CALDWELL.—Many prominent citizens, most of them personal friends of the late W. S. Caldwell, assembled at the Baptist church to pay the last tribute to the dead. The city officers and the council attended in a body, as did also the insurance managers and agents. The Masons, including the Knights Templar, were present in large numbers. Several tasteful offerings of flowers adorned the beautiful casket. Pall bearers were Messrs. J. N. Dolph, Henry Failing, S. G. Skidmore, P. C. Schuyler, Geo. L. Story and Geo. H. Flanders. Rev. J. A. Gray paid to the memory of the honest man cold in death, the praise due to one whose life was a benefit to this entire community. At the grave services were conducted by the Masons with dignified solemnity.

COMPLIMENTARY.—Yesterday Mr. J. H. Brenner had occasion to visit Vancouver, and while there, through the courtesy of Adjutant Capt. H. H. Pierce, he had the pleasure of listening to a special performance of the Twenty-first Infantry band in his honor. Mr. Oechale has recently taken charge of this organization, and has succeeded in training it to almost perfection in musical art. An opportunity will be given our citizens to listen to this excellent band on the 2d of June next, and they will find the programme made up for the occasion to be one of rare merit. Mr. Oechale is an accomplished musician, and thoroughly understands what is required for a first-class entertainment.

FINED $2000.—Yesterday Capt. W. S. Thomson, of the British steamship Bothwell Castle, was fined by Judge Deady in the U. S. circuit court $1000 for having violated section 4266 of the revised statutes in omitting to deliver to the collector of customs at Astoria a true list of his passengers; and $8000 for having violated section 4253 by carrying 160 passengers more than American measurement laws permitted—$50 for each person unlawfully carried. A stay of execution for sixty days was granted to permit an appeal to the president for pardon. The full text of Judge Deady's decision appears in another column.

EXCURSION TO VANCOUVER.—On Decoration Day the steamer Lurline, with the Oregon City brass band on board, will leave the foot of Yamhill street, Tuesday, May 30th, at 9 o'clock A. M., reaching Fort Vancouver in time for the military Parade and impressive ceremonies to take place at the military cemetery that day. Returning, will leave Vancouver at 4 o'clock P. M. Fare from Portland to Vancouver and return, 50 cents; children half fare. Tickets for sale at J. K. Gill & Co.'s, S. Lipman & Co., Chadbourne & Co., and on board Lurline that morning.

TUG ORDERED.—The newly organized Portland Tug Company have telegraphed their representative in Philadelphia to buy the iron tug Pioneer, which has been in service there for four years, and is one of the most powerful on the Atlantic coast. Her cost is $44,000. The purchase was probably made yesterday. As soon as a commanding officer can be secured the tug will start for Portland, and is expected to immediately go into service on the Columbia river bar.

FELL EIGHTY FEET WITHOUT INJURY.—Monday night late Lyrtan Miller, a young man employed in the Oregon City woolen mills, stepped on the elevator at the third story for the purpose of descending. The rope broke and Miller with the platform was precipitated to the basement, a distance of eighty feet. He was but slightly bruised and yesterday morning was able to walk about.

COLLEGE COMMENCEMENT.—The commencement exercises of Christian college at Monmouth will be held on the evening of June 14th. The class consists of five members, four taking the scientific and one the classical degree. The annual exercises of the alumni will occupy the evening of the 12th, and those of the college societies that of the 13th.

ACCIDENT.—Yesterday morning as Dr. Caples of St. Johns, was walking aboard the steamer Washington at the foot of Morrison street he was struck on the head by a falling chute. He received two scalp wounds, one of which was quite severe, and other bruises. Dr. G. M. Wells was summoned and dressed the injuries.

SPECIAL TRAIN.—Arrangements have been made for a special train between Portland and Hillsboro during the Washington county fair. It will leave Portland at 9 A. M. and return, leaving at 5 P. M. Every effort will be made to have a fine exhibition as the weather will doubtless be pleasant.

THE BRITISH BANQUET.—The British Benevolent Society will give its annual banquet to-night to celebrate the birthday of her majesty Queen Victoria, at the hall of the A. O. U. W., corner of First and Taylor streets. The dinner will be served promptly at 9 o'clock.

RETURNED.—Gen. A. Anderson, chief engineer of the Northern Pacific railroad, left last night by the Columbia en route to central Montana, via the Utah Northern, to inspect the division under construction westward.

NOT IDENTIFIED.—Though many persons visited the morgue since Sunday, no one could identify the body of the man found at the foot of Morrison street. The remains were buried yesterday.

ADMITTED TO PROBATE.—The will of the late Kate Staddick of East Portland, was admitted to probate yesterday. She bequeathed her property, real and personal, to her three children.

MEETING.—The mite society and guild of St. Stephen's chapel will meet this afternoon at 2 o'clock at the house of Mrs. J. W. Whalley, corner of Harrison and West Park.

THE OREGON'S CARGO.—The Oregon, which is due to-night, brings 163 cabin passengers, 300 in the steerage and 1021 tons of freight, 81 tons of which is for Astoria.

A BEAUTIFUL SPOT.

One of the most charming bits of scenery in Oregon is found in the vicinity of Oregon City, in what is known as the Falls City grove. It abounds in shady nooks for lovers of luncheon parties, and the wild beauties of nature have been rendered more pleasing, if possible, by the work of human art. Messrs. Gisbish & Broderick, of Oregon City, under whose charge the park is held, have opened it for pleasure seekers, and those who desire a quiet place to enjoy themselves during the coming season, can find no better.

CARRIE BRADLEY'S TRIAL.

A Jury Selected Yesterday and the Opening Argument's Made.

At half-past ten yesterday morning the trial of Carrie Bradley, indicted with others for the murder of James N. Brown on the 18th of last October, began in the state circuit court. About two hundred spectators were present, and fifty markable of the bar? THE JURY.

Frank W. Powell, farmer, Columbia slough.
Eli Collins, farmer, asylum road, seven miles from city.
L. Abraham, farmer and carpenter, near East Portland.
F. B. Mason, livery stable keeper, city.
Elis Wacker, laborer, St. Johns.

EVENING SESSION.

The court room was well filled with spectators. District Attorney Caples made a statement of the case to the jury, reciting provisions of the statute relating to murder in the first degree and the evidence required to convict a person of that crime. He then gave a brief resume of the facts connected with the alleged murder, and said that the state's witnesses would prove every fact that he had stated. During the speech, in which he referred to the crime in vehement language, and denounced the perpetrators, Bradley's lips quivered and she eyed nervously with her fan—perhaps from anger, certainly not from fear.

W. S. Beebe made a short reply, saying that to establish the defendant's guilt of murder in the first degree the prosecution must prove much more than Mr. Caples indicated they could prove, and in case of failure to present this additional testimony the defendant would be entitled to acquittal.

Court then adjourned until 9 o'clock this morning.

GENUINE MEDICAL LAKE SALT.

Every box makes 10 gallons of water, warranted pure.—is a sure cure for catarrh, dyspepsia, every skin disease, piles, and 90 per cent. of all rheumatic complaints. As a toilet article, it has no equal. It removes dandruff, freckles, pimples, and roughness of the skin; leaves the flesh soft and flexible; is free from irritation, removes paint, tar, pitch and grease spots. One trial will satisfy any lady in your city that Medical Lake Water is an indispensable article for bathing, washing, etc., cheaper, prettier, and will remove what soap will not touch. Nature has prepared this article for the benefit of the human race and the healing of the nation. Manufactured and sold by MIDDAUGH, HARWOOD & CO., Medical Lake.

THE RIVER FRONT.

PORTLAND, May 23.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN.

Let me thank you for your timely remarks in this morning's issue concerning the shore line in front of the east and west side of Portland. Unquestionably, great damage has been done to the river by the carelessness of extending wharves too far into the river, and in the future greater is threatened.

RESOLUTIONS.

A meeting of the fire underwriters of this city was held on the 22d inst for the purpose of taking some action to testify their sorrow on learning of the death of William Sutton Caldwell, the Nestor of the insurance fraternity here, and to show their respect for the deceased.

Mr. Geo. L. Story was called to the chair and Mr. Philip C. Schuyler was appointed secretary.

The following preamble and resolutions were unanimously adopted:

Whereas, It has pleased Divine Providence in His inscrutable wisdom to remove from our midst our late associate William Sutton Caldwell, and

Whereas, We, the underwriters of Portland, do most deeply deplore his loss; therefore be it

Resolved, That in the death of William Sutton Caldwell we have lost a beloved associate, whose ripe experience and kindly counsel were always freely placed at our disposal, smoothing away difficulties and settling disputes.

Resolved, That in this, their hour of affliction, we tender to the family of the deceased our heartfelt sympathy in their bereavement, which He whose wisdom has inflicted the blow can alone lighten or assuage.

Resolved, That we attend the funeral of the deceased in a body; that the several insurance offices of this city be closed on that morning; that these resolutions be published in THE OREGONIAN, and that a copy be sent to the family of the deceased.

NEWS OF THE NORTHWEST.

Southern Oregon.

May frosts have blighted the fruit prospects of Jackson county.

Measles have broken out among the men working in the railroad tunnels.

Considerable snow fell in Josephine on the 14th. Most of the fruit was killed.

Ice an inch thick was formed in Linkville for several successive nights last week.

A. A. Fink of Douglas county is driving 500 head of cattle to Sprague river, Lake county.

John C. Cardwell, a resident of Sam's valley, Jackson county, died on the 4th inst., aged 60 years.

Mrs. Maria, wife of George Schumpf, died at her home in Jacksonville on the 17th inst., of consumption of the bowels, aged 45 years.

H. C. Laws, whom the grand jury of Modoc county failed to indict for the murder of the Calavan boy last winter on account of attendant expense of trial, is now enjoying his liberty, having visited Linkville last week.

Ophir, the famous trotting stallion of Southern Oregon, broke one of his fore legs some days ago, and although the limb was set and every effort made to save it, it was found impossible, owing to the animal's restlessness. He was in consequence shot, in order to end his sufferings.

Mrs. Lee of Ashland, whose husband died last winter, leaving her and two children in destitute circumstances, received last week from Washington $1700 back pension and will hereafter receive $14 per month, to which her husband was entitled, having been disabled in the war.

A vault of polished Italian marble is soon to be placed in the Odd Fellows' cemetery at Roseburg in place of the brick one that contains the remains of Hon. L. L. Williams. It is to be a handsome and substantial structure and will stand six feet above the surface. It is 7 feet long and 32 inches wide, inside measurement, and will cost $500.

The following contracts for furnishing Fort Klamath with supplies have been awarded: Oats—350,000 lbs., R. E. Reames; 100,000 lbs., L. Solomon; 75,000 lbs., Newman Fisher; 64,000 lbs., Beall Bros. Wood—Sikes Worden. Bran—30,000 lbs., N. Fisher. Hay—Sikes Worden and Mr. Hodges. Newman Fisher secured the transportation contract for both summer and winter.

Ashland Tidings: The frosts of the past week have nipped the strawberries and the vegetables, and, it is feared, destroyed half the apple crop. This is the first time for twenty years that the apples have been injured to any extent in this valley. In old orchards and in orchards where the trees are crowded and the branches thick the fruit in the interior and on the lower part of the trees appears to have escaped.

Ollie, daughter of Elisha Hardman, who resides near the Weekly place on the Coos bay road, died on Thursday morning of last week, aged about 14 years. She had occasion to go on an errand a short distance from the house, and not returning within a reasonable length of time, the parents went in search of her, and found her lifeless near the spot to which she had gone. She had been subject to fits since infancy, and there is no doubt that she passed away in convulsions, as they were liable to attack her at any time.

Washington Territory.

The city tax levy for Seattle is five mills on the dollar, and a road poll tax of $4.

A contract has been let to clear five acres of the Seattle city cemetery at $20 per acre.

The valuation of taxable property in Snohomish county for the year 1882, as per returns of the assessor, is $412,126, or an increase over last year of $60,969.

A petition has been presented to the Seattle city council, asking that the money to be used for building a city hall be diverted to the purchase of another fire engine.

J. F. Niles, who was fined $500 for an assault on Col. Morgan, after boarding out $72 worth of the amount at the expense of Spokane county, raised the balance and is now at liberty.

A move is being made to organize an agricultural society in Whitman county. Suitable grounds have been selected, and a number of the prominent business men of the county are interesting themselves in the undertaking.

Last Friday an emigrant train, comprising five wagons occupied by twelve men and women, passed through Walla Walla en route to Texas. This party has been living near Moscow, I. T., for ten years, and having made fortunes, are going back to their old homes to enjoy them. They had a fine outfit of stock and wagons.

A fir log was hauled at Blackman Bros.' camp, near Snohomish City, one day last week, which contained over 5000 feet of lumber. It was a butt log, twenty-four feet in length, and scaled seventy inches at the small end. The stump of the tree from which this log was cut, about eight feet from the ground, was eight feet in diameter.

The Catholics of Kittitas valley are now building a little chapel about a mile west of Ellensburg, and upon land adjoining the farm of Jacob Becker. It is being built under the supervisory care of Father Grassi. Father Parodi, who is now located there, will officiate. This is the first church erected in the valley of the Kittitas.

Part of the lumber for the large store building at Endicott is on the ground. At present it consists of three dwellings, a large cook house and blacksmith shop and several tent dwellings and stables. A number of men are breaking and seeding the land in the vicinity of the town. The plat of the town has been filed with the county auditor for record.

Philip Ritz recently purchased the Handershott place south of Walla Walla and is having it planted in fruit trees. He has already planted upwards of 5000 and expects to have the greater portion of the 320 acres in before another year. These, together with his present trees, will probably make him the largest orchardist in Oregon and Washington, and cannot fail to yield a large return on the money invested.

Durr's new road from the head of the Bassuskin canyon, leading out of Kittitas valley, and from thence across the Umptanum ridge and down Cottonwood to the Clemens ranch on the Wenas, will be finished this week. A force of men are now at work upon it. They have finished all the heavy grades on the Umptanum ridge, and but little grading is required down Cottonwood. When the road is finished it will shorten the distance between Yakima City and Ellensburg eight miles. Several teams have already passed over it, and the teamsters report it as a good road.

Angus Macdonald's Farm.

Guelph Herald.

Angus Macdonald was a farmer from Charlottenburg, County Glengarry, who arrived in Winnipeg a few days ago. Angus, in his own estimation and in the estimation of his friends, was a shrewd man. He was hardly in the place before an old acquaintance of his ran up against him, slapped him on the back in a friendly way, and said:

"I'm glad you've come up. I was just going to send for you." After their greetings he continued: "By the way, Angus, you own a farm out near Minnedosa?"

"Yes."

"How much will you take for it?"

"I don't know," said Angus. "I thought of settling on it myself."

"Well, I'll tell you what, I'll give you $6000 for it."

Angus thought before leaving Glengarry that if he got $2600 for it he would be doing well, but he was now in the land of booms, and so he asked for it $6500.

"Well, here's $50 on the bargain, and we'll sign the papers to-morrow." And the purchaser rushed off.

Before two hours had passed Angus ran against another old acquaintance.

"Glad to see you, Angus; glad you came up. There's a splendid chance for you. By the way, I see you registered as owning a farm near Minnesota. How much do you want for that farm?"

"I have just sold it," said Angus.

"How much did he give you?"

"Six thousand five hundred dollars."

"The dickens he did. Why, I'll give you $15,000 for it. You go to the purchaser and get him to release you, and I'll give you the $15,000."

Angus wished that he was back in St. Raphaels or anywhere else, since he had made such a fool of himself. However, all he could do was to try and get the farm back. So who does he run across within fifteen minutes but purchaser No. 1.

Says Angus: "I'm sorry I sold you the farm. I'd like to get it back. Here's your $50, and we'll be where we were."

"Oh, I can't do that. I bought a farm, and will have the papers ready to-morrow."

After further higgling, Angus offered him $500 to break the bargain.

With great reluctance the first purchaser took the $500—one hundred new $5 bills of the Bank of Montreal—and gave back to Angus the temporary agreement of sale.

Angus was happy again and set out to find buyer No. 2.

He found him not. No. 1 and No. 2 were pal confidence men. Angus was the sucker from Ontario, and $450 was the net amount they stuck him for.

Crops in Missouri.

ST. LOUIS, May 23.—From over two hundred reports received by one of the leading and most reputable grain commission houses of this city from all sections of this state respecting crops, the following consideration is made. With three or four exceptions the reports indicate that never before were wheat prospects so promising at this season of the year. The late cool weather has checked the rank growth and at the same time put a stop to the progress of chinch bugs, of which there are quite a number, but they have thus far done no injury. Army worms have been feared in southeastern counties, but have done no damage yet. At one point Hessian flies have shown themselves, but in too small numbers to cause damage. Rust has done no injury to wheat not headed out and the generally expressed opinion is, wheat is too far advanced to suffer by insects of any kind, even if young chinch bugs should appear, which seems very improbable after the recent calm weather. The acreage of wheat sown is much larger than was harvested last season. Harvesting begins early in June if the weather is favorable. Corn is about all planted, and southern and central counties show very good standing for the time of year. In some sections it has received two plowings. Cold weather kept it backward somewhat, but on the whole it looks very well. The acreage is larger than in 1881, and no fears of damage by chinch bugs are anticipated unless the weather during June should be very hot and dry. The oats acreage is larger and the crop looks exceedingly well. With good weather, harvesting will begin June 1st. Farmers are happy. From Kansas reports are numerous and universally good. The whole area sown is probably 15 to 20 per cent less than last season, but a larger yield per acre is expected. Chinch bugs have decreased considerably since cool weather set in, but are still numerous. The damage occasioned by them is in northern counties. If hot, dry weather occurs wheat may suffer somewhat by their work. Harvesting will begin in the southwestern counties from May 15th to June 1st, if weather remains favorable.

Crops in the Northwest.

ST. PAUL, May 23.—Cold weather the past week has checked wheat seeding in Dakota. In Minnesota wheat looks well. The acreage has increased 30 to 50 per cent. in the northern portions of these states. In the southern sections there is a large falling off, and attention is turned to corn and oats. Corn is backward, and unless there is a speedy change will be a comparative failure. The weather is cold to-day with flurries of snow in some places.

THE
Most Successful Physician on the Pacific Coast in the Treatment of
ALL CHRONIC & DIFFICULT DISEASES

DR. BRENAN WILL GUARANTEE TO CURE any form of disease of the generative organs or private disease. He has become an expert in the treatment of disease, weakness and derangement of the reproductive organs of both male and female, including diseases caused by the

FOLLIES OF YOUTH,
Such as Spermatorrhea, or Seminal Weakness, or Loss of Perfect Vitality. Nearly two-thirds of all the Chronic Diseases spring either directly or indirectly from some derangement of the sexual system, and yet this subject is neglected by the majority of the Medical Profession.

I know that persons who are unfortunate enough to be afflicted by any form of sexual disease have a delicacy in calling upon the proper physician in time, from a sense of modesty and sometimes from ignorance, and permit those diseases to exist until their constitutions become corrupted, their organization broken down, and the hope of future happiness blighted, until death becomes a welcome messenger to carry them out of their miserable existence.

Everything strictly confidential under all circumstances.

Lost manhood perfectly restored. Catarrh, Bronchitis, Throat Diseases, Skin Diseases, Rheumatism, Kidney Complaint, and all Diseases of the Eye and Ear, Stomach and Bladder, he can cure without fail.

Consultation Free, and a list of printed questions sent to those living at a distance who cannot consult him personally. Enclose postage stamp for list.

King of the Blood.

is not a "cure-all;" it is a blood-purifier and tonic. Impurity of blood poisons the system, deranges the circulation, and thus induces many disorders, known by different names to distinguish them according to effects, but being really branches or phases of that generic disorder, Impurity of Blood. Such are Dyspepsia, Biliousness, Liver Complaint, Constipation, Nervous Disorders, Headache, Backache, General Weakness, Heart Disease, Dropsy, Kidney Disease, Piles, Rheumatism, Catarrh, Scrofula, Skin Disorders, Pimples, Ulcers, Swellings, &c., &c. King of the Blood prevents and cures these by attacking the cause, Impurity of the Blood. Chemists and physicians agree in calling it "the most genuine and efficient preparation for the purpose." Sold by Druggists. $1 per bottle. ANNUAL MEETING OF STOCKHOLDERS.

TO THE STOCKHOLDERS OF THE OREGON Railway and Navigation Company:

You are hereby notified that the annual meeting of the stockholders of the Oregon Railway and Navigation Company will be held at the office of the company, at Portland, Oregon, on Monday, June 19th, 1882, at eleven o'clock A. M.; and you are further notified that at said meeting, in pursuance of a resolution duly passed at a regular meeting of the board of directors of said company, held May 3d, 1882, the following resolution, authorizing the filing of supplementary articles of incorporation of this company, will be submitted for the action of the stockholders, namely:

Resolved, That the directors of this company be, and are hereby instructed and directed to file as soon as they can be reasonably prepared and executed, supplementary articles of incorporation, amending Article III, of the present articles of this company, by inserting at the end of subdivision VII of Art. III, of the original articles the following [illegible]

"First—A line from the city of Walla Walla in Washington Territory, in a generally northeasterly direction to Snake River, at or near Texas Ferry, and thence following the valley of the Snake River to Lewiston, in Idaho Territory, with a branch from a point on said line about three miles south of Orange City, in a generally easterly direction to the said city of Lewiston.

"Second—A line from the said city of Walla Walla to the town of Pendleton, in the County of Umatilla, in the State of Oregon.

"Third—A line from a junction with the present railroad of said company between The Dalles and Umatilla, in the state of Oregon, at a point at or near the mouth of John Day's river, up the valley of said river a distance of about thirty miles to the big bend of said river, with a branch from said line from a point at or near the mouth of Rock Creek, up the valley of said Rock Creek, to a point about thirty miles distant from the mouth thereof.

"Fourth—A line from a junction with the road of said company, extending from The Dalles to Umatilla, in the state of Oregon, at or near the mouth of Willow Creek, up the valley of Willow Creek, to the town of Heppner.

"Fifth—A line from a point of junction with the present located line of said company's road from Umatilla to Baker City, at or near the mouth of Butter creek, to a point thirty miles distant from the said point of junction; and to maintain and operate such railroad and telegraph lines and branches, and carry freight and passengers thereon, and receive tolls for the same."

NOTICE OF ANNUAL STOCKHOLDERS' MEETING.

TO THE STOCKHOLDERS OF THE OREGON and Transcontinental Company:

You are hereby notified that the annual meeting of the stockholders of the Oregon and Transcontinental Company will be held at the office of the company, at the city of Portland, in the county of Multnomah, in the state of Oregon, on Monday, the 19th day of June, 1882, at 12 o'clock M. of said day, for the purpose of electing directors of said company to serve for the ensuing year, and transacting such other business as may come before the meeting.

And you are further notified that in pursuance of a resolution duly passed at a meeting of the board of directors of said company, held at the office of the company May 3d, 1882, the following resolution, authorizing the filing of supplementary articles of incorporation of said company, will be submitted to said annual stockholders' meeting for consideration and adoption, viz.:

Resolved, That the directors of this company be and they are hereby instructed and directed to file as soon as they can reasonably be prepared and executed, supplementary articles of incorporation, amending the present articles of this company by inserting at the end of the 12th clause or section of the first subdivision of Article Three of the original articles the following:

13th—A railroad and telegraph line from a point of junction with the Northern Pacific railroad, at or near the mouth of Washtucna Coulee, in the territory of Washington, in a generally easterly direction by way of Washtucna Coulee, by way of Rebel Flat, to a point at or near the town of Moscow, in Idaho territory, with a branch line from a junction with said line near the mouth of Rebel Flat creek, in a generally northeasterly direction, by way of Cottonwood creek, to the town of Farmington, in said territory of Washington.

And another branch line from a point of junction with said line, about three miles west of the town of Colfax, in the territory of Washington, through the town of Colfax, and thence up the north branch of the Palouse river to its head.

14th—A railroad and telegraph line commencing at or near Sand Point station, on the Northern Pacific railroad, in the territory of Idaho, and following down the valley of Clarke's Fork of the Columbia river to its junction with the Columbia river; thence down the valley of the Columbia river to a point at or near the town of Ainsworth, in Washington territory.

15th—A railroad and telegraph line from a point on the Northern Pacific railroad at or near the town of Spokane Falls, in the territory of Washington, by the most practicable route, via the valley of the Colville river, to the junction of said Colville river with the Columbia river, in said territory.

16th—A railroad and telegraph line from at or near the town of Spokane Falls, in the territory of Washington, down the Spokane river to its mouth.

17th—A railroad and telegraph line from a point on the Northern Pacific railroad, at or near the town of Spokane Falls, in the territory of Washington, in a generally northwesterly direction, via the middle pass of the Grand Coulee to the Columbia river about seven miles above Old Fort Okinakane, with a branch line from a junction with said line at said middle pass of the Grand Coulee, in a generally westerly direction to the Columbia river, at a point about ten to twelve miles above the mouth of the Whatchie river.

18th—A railroad and telegraph line from a point on the Northern Pacific railroad near Lake Colville in the territory of Washington, in a generally westerly direction, by the way of Sylvan lake and Crab creek, skirting the southern slope of the Badger mountains, to the Columbia river, crossing the said river at the most eligible point below the mouth of the Wenatchee river; thence up the Wenatchee river to its head, crossing the Cascade mountains at Ward's pass; thence down the Skykomish and Snohomish rivers to the town of Cadyville; thence in a northerly direction along the shore of Puget sound to Fidalgo Island in said territory of Washington.

19th—A railroad and telegraph line from a point at or near Thirty Mile Well station, on the Northern Pacific railroad, in the territory of Washington, to Ellensburg, in the Columbia river; thence in a generally westerly direction, by the most practicable route, to Yakima City; thence up the Natches river, crossing the Cascade mountains at Natches pass, thence in a generally northwesterly direction to the city of New Tacoma, in said territory of Washington.

20th—A railroad and telegraph line from at or near the town of Ainsworth, in Washington territory, in a generally northwesterly direction up the Yakima river, crossing the Cascade mountains at the Snoqualmie pass, thence in a generally northwesterly direction to the city of Seattle, in the territory of Washington.

21st—A railroad and telegraph line from a point of junction with the Northern Pacific railroad at or near Lake Colville, in Washington territory, in a generally northerly direction, to the Big Bend in the Columbia river in said territory.

22d—A railroad and telegraph line from a point of junction with the Northern Pacific railroad at or near Rathdrum station, in Idaho territory, in a southeasterly direction to Fort Coeur d'Alene, in said territory.

23d—A railroad and telegraph line from a point at or near the town of Spokane Falls, on the line of the Northern Pacific railroad, in Washington territory, in a generally southeasterly direction, a distance of about sixty miles up the valley of Hangman's creek, to [illegible] in the territory of Idaho.

24th—A railroad and telegraph line from a point on the Northern Pacific railroad at or near the town of Cheney, in the territory of Washington, in a generally southeasterly direction to a connection with the aforesaid line from the mouth of Rebel Flat to the town of Farmington.

25th—A railroad and telegraph line from a point on the Columbia river at or near the mouth of Nahoh-pat-kwa river, in Washington territory, up said Nahoh-pat-kwa river, to the mouth of Rock creek, thence in a generally westerly direction, by the most practicable route, to Lake Oso-yoos, in said territory.

26th—A railroad and telegraph line from a point on the Columbia river at or near the mouth of San Puell river, in the territory of Washington, in a generally northerly direction to a junction with the last mentioned line, about forty miles east of Lake Oso-yoos.

27th—A railroad and telegraph line from a point on the Columbia river at or near the mouth of the Okinakane river, in the territory of Washington, in a generally northerly direction to Lake Oso-yoos.

28th—A railroad and telegraph line from the town of Lewiston, on Snake river, in Idaho territory, in a generally easterly direction up the valley of Clearwater river, crossing the Bitter Root mountains to the town of Missoula, in the territory of Montana.

29th—A railroad and telegraph line from the town of Lewiston, in Idaho territory, in a southerly direction, up the valley of the Snake river, to a point at or near Boise City, in said territory.

30th—A railroad and telegraph line from a point of junction with the Northern Pacific railroad, running from the town of Kalama to the city of New Tacoma, in the territory of Washington, about [illegible] miles south of said city of New Tacoma, in a generally northerly direction to the city of Seattle, in said territory.

And by inserting at the end of the said first subdivision of Article 3 the following subdivisions:

2—To facilitate and assist in the construction, and to contract for the construction, building, extension, equipment and operation of any railroad or telegraph line, steamship or steamboat line, in any of the provinces of the Dominion of Canada, and in any of the states or territories of the United States, connecting or intending to connect, or exchange traffic with any railroad, steamship or steamboat line of this corporation, or with the main line or any of the branch lines of railroad of the Northern Pacific Railroad company, and to construct, equip, and operate, under such contract or contracts, any such railroad or telegraph line steamship or steamboat line.
